Kids Hunting For A Cure is a non-profit organization which provides financial support to research Hospitals/Foundations dedicated to developing cures for cancer and many childhood diseases. Monies are raised by children and adults through community-sponsored outdoor events designed for youth. The money is then donated to Children Hospitals and to local research Hospitals/Foundations.

The West Tennessee Chapter of Kids Hunting for a Cure, was founded to provide opportunities for children with illnesses the chance to enjoy the outdoors through their love of hunting. As well as partnering them with others. The aim of the chapter is to bring together children of all walks of life with experienced outdoorsmen and women. Furthermore, to take these special children hunting, where hunting may be a dream turned to a reality. Through hunting, the West Tennessee Chapter of Kids Hunting for a Cure is raising money to assist in the research of many childhood diseases as well as seek to educate children, and adults, about the art of hunting. Also, while joining together not just children, but sponsors, guides, supporters, and volunteers, to fight the often deadly diseases of cancer and childhood illnesses.
